'Hindi Day': Report

Hindi has been given the status of official language in the Constitution of India and it is the official language of government undertakings. Apart from this, Hindi is the contact language of India. Hindi is called the national language of India because it is used as a contact language throughout the country.

The Constituent Assembly passed a resolution on 14 September 1949 that Hindi would be the official language of India. Today, discussions were held on the history of Hindi Diwas and the use, promotion and obstacles of Hindi as an official language.
